A FOOD LOVERS

3/21 GUIDE TO 3/5/

CORNWALL

Cornwall is fast becoming a popular foodie destination, with an abundance of restaurants flipping freshly caught fish and serving up fine local ingredients into tasty dishes. Here are some finger-licking foodie favourites from around the county!

Jamie Oliver's Fifteen Cornwall, Watergate Bay

Unlike Jamie Oliver's other traditional Italian restaurants, Fifteens strong sense of Cornwall's community is what drives this business. All profits from the restaurant are donated to the registered charity 'Cornwall food foundation' which then funds their award-winning apprenticeship scheme. About fourteen young apprentices are taken on by the fifteen restaurant each year, so when you dine here, not only are you getting quality Italian food but you will also be giving back to the young people of Cornwall.

Rick Stein's Sea Food Restaurant, Padstow

Award-winning chef Rick Stein has various restaurants and cafes in Cornwall, the Padstow seafood restaurant being one of his most popular.

Serving all local Cornish produce and with the majority of the fish being landed at Padstow, you won't be disappointed with the quality of the food.

A memorable dining experience with a seafood bar placed in the middle of the restaurant, you can watch the chefs assembling platters of fish whilst eating - a real spectacle!

Craftworks Street Kitchen, Truro

Craftworks Kitchen is a small Mexican restaurant cleverly operating from inside a shipping container in Truro city centre.

Sounds completely ridiculous, yet it works! The brightly coloured container is at the far end of Lemon Quay, serving quality Mexican street food, from burritos and fish tacos to salads and burgers. They also offer excellent kid size portions and options, take away or eat in.

Harbour Lights Fish & Chips, Falmouth

Harbour lights is not your standard fish & chip shop. Winners of the Best Independent Fish & Chip Shop in the South West 2017 and the Cornwall Sustainability Awards, these are the ultimate fish & chips. Not only is the food they serve amazing but so is where they serve it! Take your chips to go and eat them with your feet dangling over the harbour's edge, eating fish & chips the Cornish way.

The Fish House, Newquay

The fish house restaurant is perfectly located a stone's throw away from Fistral beach. With outside seating this is a picturesque venue to eat at, using locally caught fish from Newquay's harbour the standard of food served here is unbeatable. We're not the only ones who think so either, with Five stars on TripAdvisor for food, value and atmosphere.
